Dear Sir:

In order to help put "Watergate" in its proper perspective please consider the following:

How many Senators, Congressmen, business men, etc., could stand the type of "nit picking" investigation that Mr. Nixon has been subjected to, with its unsupported rumors, innuendos, misrepresentations, quotes from "a certain source", "spokesman", "it is rumored", etc.

Also, I would point out that one must look askance at testimony by people who have been promised immunity. Further, how is it that newspaper reports have immunity to not divulge their "alleged" information, whereas the President is asked to submit everything that is asked for?

I ask for fair play with proper court procedures, and not trial by the various news media on a partisan basis only.

Trusting in your sense of fair play.

Sincerely yours,

A. B. Heinsbergen
